II. Learning Content
A. Topic (s)	Developing Prudence to Balance Positive Dispositions
B. Key Concepts	Lesson 4.1: Developing Prudence to Balance Positive Dispositions - Prudence is the ability to govern and discipline oneself by the use of reason to judge the right thing to do at a given moment. - It serves as a guide for citizens to analyze opinions and current events objectively, ensuring that reactions are reasonable, balanced, and not prejudiced. - Prudence is necessary to balance positive dispositions such as communal unity, nationalism, religiosity, and pakikipagkapuwa-tao to ensure they are applied correctly. - In community involvement, prudence helps discern the true worthiness of a project by examining its transparency, accountability, and benefit to the majority. - Knowledge of current events is essential for prudence, as citizens cannot form correct opinions without sufficient facts about issues affecting their lives. - It guides us to make the right practical decisions in fulfilling our obligations to the government and society. Characteristics of Prudence: A. Shrewdness in the management of our affairs. B. Skill in good judgment in the use of reason. C. Caution as to danger and risk. D. Ability to pursue correct action in various situations.

III. Teaching and Learning Process (Experiences)

Model: 5E Instructional Model
Total time allotment: 90 minutes

PRELIMINARIES (5 minutes)

The teacher begins the lesson with a prayer, followed by attendance checking. The teacher will introduce themselves as one of the new guides for the students in the last quarter of the school year. The teacher will provide a recap of how the first quarter focused on oneself, followed by a focus on the family in the next quarter, then interpersonal relations in the next, and finally culminating with the state as the focus of the final quarter.

A. ENGAGE (10 minutes)

Activity 1: React vs. Respond (The Viral Post Simulation)

The teacher begins the lesson by asking the students to open their chat boxes or prepare their reaction buttons (emojis). The teacher sets the scene: "Imagine you are scrolling through your social media feed and you see this breaking news from your local community page."

The teacher flashes a slide with a blurred but readable headline: "BREAKING: Barangay Officials to Stop Giving 'Ayuda' (Assistance) to Families!"

"I want you to react immediately. Don't think, just click. Is it an angry face? A sad face? Or a thumbs down? Go!"

As the screen fills with angry and sad reactions, the teacher pauses for a moment to let the emotion settle. Then, the teacher reveals the Full Story by unblurring the subtitle: "...to families caught gambling and drinking in public during the curfew hours."

"Now," the teacher asks, "Who wants to change their emoji? Change it now."

As the icons shift from anger to "thumbs up" or "heart" reactions, the teacher asks a few students to unmute:

- "Why did you react angrily at first?"
- "What changed your mind?"
- "Does this happen often in real life—reacting before knowing the whole story?"

The teacher then synthesizes their answers, connecting them to the lesson's core theme.

B. EXPLORE (15 minutes)

The teacher transitions to the next phase by dividing the class into four breakout rooms. Each group is assigned a specific concept from the lesson to "construct" or define based on their understanding and the text provided.

- Group 1 (The Community Planners): Define "Community" (Pamayanan). Is it just a place?.
- Group 2 (The Character Builders): Define "Positive Dispositions." What attitudes strengthen a nation?.
- Group 3 (The Judges): Define "Prudence" (Maingat na Paghuhusga). What is its role in decision-making?.
- Group 4 (The Citizens): Define "Good Citizenship." What does it look like in action?.

The teacher explains the mechanics. Each group will have 2 types of members:

1. The Contributors: Every member of the group must give one word related to your assigned Key Term.

2. The Synthesizer: The last member of the group must take all those words and string them together into one coherent sentence that defines the Key Term.

The words of each member will be put in a single file, which will be presented after 5 minutes of brainstorming.

As the teacher collects the students' constructed sentences and validates their correctness against the text's definitions, the teacher will proceed with the question: "Looking at how these concepts—community, disposition, prudence, and citizenship—link together in your sentences, what do you think our specific topic will be for today?"

After the students guess that the topic is about how the community shapes us or how we behave in it, the teacher will transition to the discussion proper by revealing the exact title of the lesson: "The Community as Formator of Good Citizenship: Developing Prudence to Balance Positive Dispositions."

C. EXPLAIN (20 minutes)

The teacher will begin the discussion by asking about the students opinion about the word “Formator”. After the students share their varied opinions, the teacher will start presenting the title and will now proceed into the proper discussion.

Defining Community and Citizenship

Community: Humans are social beings. We belong to communities (family, school, barangay, parish) because we have an essential need for belonging and a sense of interdependence.a community not just as a location, but as a "social group" tied by interdependence.

The community is a "formator" because it provides the stage where family-taught values (like honesty) are tested in public (like paying the correct fare). while the home is the first exposure, the community (Barangay, Church, Schools) is where we realize ourselves as "social beings." Our "giftedness" is not for ourselves alone but must be laid at the service of others.

The Role of a Good Citizen: A citizen is a legal member of a nation with both rights and duties. Training for citizenship begins in the home but is nurtured by the community.

Identifying the Four Major Filipino Positive Dispositions

The teacher explains that the community serves as a "formator" of positive dispositions. These four traits are essential for good citizenship:

Communal Unity (Bayanihan): Working together for a shared goal, especially during calamities or to resolve social issues like poverty.

Nationalism and Patriotism: Extending care beyond the family to the nation. This involves political literacy, obedience to laws, and concern for the environment.

Religiosity: The "Bahala na ang nasa itaas" (God-centered) attitude that inspires hope and social action. It encourages an integrated faith life—believing, doing, and praying.

Pakikipagkapuwa-tao: Treating others as equals with empathy and respect. It moves beyond "smooth interpersonal relations" (pakikisama) to a deeper level of trust and self-sacrifice for the poor.

Mastering the Virtue of Prudence

The teacher introduces Prudence as the "bridge" that balances these dispositions. Without prudence, our opinions may be biased or impulsive.

Prudence : The ability to govern and discipline oneself through the use of reason. It is the "skill in making a good judgment."

Without prudence, our "Positive Dispositions" can become unbalanced. For example, Pakikisama without prudence might lead you to join a group in doing something wrong just to belong.

Prudence has 4 qualities:

1. Shrewdness in the management of our affairs;
2. Skill in good judgement in the use of reason;
3. Caution us as to danger and risk;
4. Ability to pursue correct action in various situations.

D. ELABORATE (20 minutes)

The teacher will move on to the next phase, and now apply the concept of prudence in different scenarios. The 4 groups will once again convene in their breakout rooms for 10 minutes. They will be given a scenario to exercise their knowledge of prudence.

Group 1:

The barangay is celebrating its 50th Founding Anniversary and Patron Saint's Feast next month. It is a major event that brings home Balikbayans (returning residents) and unites feuding neighbors. However, PAGASA has just released a warning about a severe "El Niño" (drought) that will hit the province in two months.

If they cancel the fiesta, they kill the community spirit and tourism income (social risk). If they spend it all on the fiesta, they are vulnerable to the drought (physical risk).

What should the barangay do?

Group 2:

The Barangay Council has secured a grant to sew 500 new school uniforms for the local elementary students. They need to choose a supplier.

- Bidder A (The Outsider): A large garment factory from the city. They are fully licensed, have a proven track record, and their price is the lowest (₱150/set).

- Bidder B (The Neighbor): "Tita Tessie's Patahian," a local cooperative of single mothers living inside the barangay. Their quality is good, but their equipment is old, so their price is higher (₱180/set), and they lack some official government accreditation papers.

Choosing the Outsider is legally safe but economically hurts the neighbors.

Choosing the Neighbor helps the community but risks legal trouble (lack of transparency/accountability) and wastes funds (higher price).

Group 3:

The barangay needs a new evacuation center. The budget is tight—only enough for materials, not for professional labor.

The Proposal: The Barangay Captain calls for Bayanihan. He asks the local men—many of whom are skilled construction workers currently unemployed—to build the center for free (volunteer work) in exchange for food allowances.

If you reject the Bayanihan offer, the center won't be built (no budget for labor), leaving the community unsafe during typhoons.

If you accept it blindly, you risk the safety of the workers and the future evacuees (no accountability).

Group 4:

Barangay San Jose is suffering from a spike in snatching incidents involving motorcycle riders who use the barangay's main road as an "escape route" to the highway.

- The Proposal: The Peace and Order Committee proposes to close the road to non-residents from 9:00 PM to 4:00 AM. Checkpoints will be installed.

Closing the road protects your people but endangers others (violating the broader sense of Pakikipagkapuwa).

Keeping it open protects the others but leaves your people vulnerable to crime.

After the 10 minutes of brainstorming, the students will present their solutions with a powerpoint presentation.

E. Evaluate (15 minutes)

The teacher begins the evaluation phase through Google forms. The google forms will contain 10 multiple choice items, each worth 1 point, and 3 situational essay-type items, each worth 5 points, for a total of 25 points. The questions are found in Part IV.

IV. Learning Assessment

Part 1. Multiple choice (1 point x 10 = 10)

Instruction: Choose the letter of the best answer.

1. Which of the following best defines a "community" according to the lesson?

A) A group of people who live in the same subdivision and share identical political views and voting preferences.

B) A social group where members have ties to one another and share a sense of connection and interdependence.

C) A collection of families living in one compound who are strictly related by blood and ancestry.

D) A gathering of individuals in a specific location who prioritize their own private interests over others.

2. The lesson describes Prudence as the ability to govern and discipline oneself by the use of which specific faculty?

A) The use of reason and judgment to determine the right action.

B) The use of strong emotions and empathy to feel what others are feeling.

C) The use of strict authority and blind obedience to established laws.

D) The use of cultural tradition and popular opinion to decide.

3. How should a Filipino citizen with a positive disposition interpret the religious value of "Bahala na"?

A) As a valid excuse to leave everything to fate without making any effort.

B) As a passive resignation to whatever happens because human action cannot change destiny.

C) As an expression of trust in God that inspires one to do their best and work hard.

D) As a way to avoid taking responsibility for personal failures by blaming external forces.

4. Which scenario accurately demonstrates the transition from "Love for Family" to "Nationalism and Patriotism"?

A) A mother who buys only imported goods to ensure her children have the highest quality products available.

B) A father who obeys traffic laws even when no enforcer is looking to promote national order.

C) A family that protects their own property with high fences but throws their garbage into the neighbor's lot.

D) A student who studies hard solely to get a high-paying job abroad and permanently leave the country.

5. How does the value of Pakikipagkapuwa-tao differ from the negative practice of Pakikisama?

A) Pakikisama encourages covering up a friend's wrongdoing to avoid conflict, while Pakikipagkapuwa-tao does not.

B) Pakikisama is considered the higher value because it prioritizes peace and silence within the group above all else.

C) Pakikipagkapuwa-tao is grounded on truth and respect, meaning one does not hurt others or lie just to maintain a smooth relationship.

D) There is actually no difference; both values prioritize getting along with others regardless of the cost to the truth.

6. The "Bayanihan" system is a classic example of Communal Unity. Which of the following modern situations best reflects this spirit?

A) Neighbors organizing a community pantry where everyone donates what they can to help those who lost their jobs.

B) A group of wealthy friends setting up a private club that strictly excludes people from lower income brackets.

C) A homeowner hiring a private contractor to fix their own fence while ignoring the broken streetlights outside.

D) Citizens waiting passively for the government to solve the trash problem without segregating their own waste.

7. You read a Facebook post claiming that the local high school will be converted into a mall. The post has no source link. As a prudent citizen, what is your immediate course of action?

A) Share the post immediately to warn your friends and neighbors before it is too late to act.

B) Comment angrily on the post to express your strong opposition to the project and blame the officials.

C) Organize a protest rally immediately based on the information provided in the viral post.

D) Withhold judgment and research official announcements to verify if the information is true.

8. Prudence guides us to evaluate the "worthiness" of community projects. Which of the following questions acts as a prudent checkpoint?

A) "Will this project make me famous and increase my popularity in the barangay?"

B) "Is this the absolute cheapest option available, regardless of the quality of the materials?"

C) "Is this project helpful to the majority of the people instead of only the few?"

D) "Can I give this contract to my relative to help them out with their financial problems?"

9. Why is possessing "sufficient correct knowledge" of current events considered a prerequisite for Prudence?

A) Because it helps us form opinions that are objective, reasonable, and balanced rather than prejudiced.

B) Because it allows us to win debates and arguments against people with opposing political views.

C) Because it ensures we are always the first to break news on social media and get the most likes.

D) Because it is required by law for all registered voters to read the news every single day.

10. A Barangay Captain decides to spend the entire disaster preparedness fund on a grand fiesta to "boost morale," ignoring the warning of an upcoming super typhoon. Which aspect of Prudence did he fail to exercise?

A) Shrewdness in the management of affairs.

B) Skill in good judgment.

C) Caution as to danger and risk.

D) All of the above.

Part 2. Essay (5 points x 3 = 15)

Instructions: Read each scenario carefully. Answer in a paragraph with at least 5 sentences. Your answer must identify the conflict, and justify your final decision.

1. A 15-second video clip goes viral on your local community page. It shows a well-known, strict teacher from your school shouting at a crying student. The caption reads: "This abusive teacher must be fired! Justice for the student!" Your close friends are already sharing it with the hashtag #KickHimOut. However, you notice the video seems to start in the middle of a conversation, and you know this teacher has always been fair in your class.

   The Question: As a prudent citizen, how will you respond to your friends and the post?

2. The Situation: Your uncle has just been elected as the Barangay Captain. You are applying for a government scholarship that requires a "Certificate of Indigency" (proof of low income). Your family is not poor; you belong to the middle class and do not technically qualify. Your mother tells you, "Just ask your uncle. He is the Captain now, and family should help family. It's just a piece of paper, and it will help us save money."

   The Question: As a prudent citizen, how will you respond to your mother's view?

3. The Situation: You are a Barangay Captain in a community where 60% of families rely on tricycle driving for income. A recent engineering report states that the main bridge connecting your barangay to the town market is "structurally compromised" but not in immediate danger of collapse. If you close the bridge, the tricycle drivers will lose income, however, if you don't, the risk of the bridge collapsing will only increase.

   The Question: As a prudent barangay captain, are you able to solve the livelihood concerns and safety concerns without sacrificing the other?

V. Asynchronous Task (Enrichment or Agreement)

For the asynchronous task, the teacher will instruct the students to create an "Infographic of a Prudent Citizen." This output is designed to demonstrate their ability to apply the lesson's core value—Prudence—by analyzing a complex national issue rather than reacting to it emotionally.

The teacher will require the students to select one recent and relevant issue in the Philippines that currently divides public opinion, such as the Jeepney Modernization Program, the West Philippine Sea Dispute, or the Return to the Old School Calendar. [These are only examples, and the students may freely choose an issue relevant to the Philippines]

In their infographic, the students must visually present a structured analysis that moves beyond "reactive noise." The output must contain:

1. The Facts: An objective summary of the issue based on at least two verified sources, filtering out fake news.
2. The Conflict: A brief visualization of the opposing emotional or political sides involved.
3. The Prudent Judgment: A synthesis that finds the "middle ground" or the most reasonable course of action, weighing the benefits to the majority against the risks to the vulnerable.
4. The Citizen's Action: A concrete, actionable proposal for what a student can do to help (e.g., verifying information before sharing, supporting local sectors), reflecting a Positive Disposition.

The teacher will emphasize that the infographic should be visually appealing and clear, serving as a guide for others to understand the issue with reason rather than prejudice. The output will be submitted digitally via the class platform (Google Classroom) in PDF form.

The output must be in A4. References must be found at the bottom.

The infographic will be scored using this rubric:

Criteria	Excellent (10 pts)	Proficient (7 pts)	Needs Improvement (4 pts)
Content & Prudence (Analysis)	The issue is analyzed with exceptional depth. The student explicitly identifies the conflicting values and applies Prudence to find a balanced, "middle ground" solution based on verified facts. No bias is evident.	The analysis is generally correct and factual. The student identifies the issue but may lean slightly towards one side or emotion. The "Prudent Judgment" is present but could be more nuanced or detailed.	The content is biased, purely emotional, or factually incorrect. The student fails to apply Prudence, simply repeating popular opinions or "noise" without analysis.
Citizenship & Action (Application)	The proposed action is concrete, realistic, and highly constructive. It clearly reflects a Positive Disposition It empowers the student to act.	The proposed action is positive but vague. It is well-intentioned but lacks specific steps for a student to take.	The proposed action is missing, irrelevant, or negative. It does not reflect the values of good citizenship.
Visual Appeal & Organization	The layout is professional and engaging. Fonts are legible, colors are harmonious, and graphics/icons strongly support the message. The flow of information is logical and easy to follow.	The layout is clean and readable. Graphics are used but may be generic or slightly cluttered. The flow of information is understandable but may require some effort to follow.	The layout is messy, chaotic, or difficult to read. Fonts are too small, colors clash, or the text is overwhelming. The information is disorganized.
Mechanics & Sources	Zero errors in grammar, spelling, or punctuation. Sources are cited correctly and come from reliable, verified outlets.	Few minor errors in grammar or spelling that do not distract from the message. Sources are mentioned but may lack specific details or variety.	Multiple errors in grammar or spelling that make the text hard to understand. Sources are missing or unreliable
